

Maggie Wheeler

Ingleside, Ontario

January 30, 2004

For Immediate Release

Farran MacKenzie Returns to the Seaway Valley

Heroine Farran MacKenzie returns to the Seaway Valley this April with the launch of local author Maggie Wheeler's newest mystery novel The Brother of Sleep.

The long awaited sequel to her hugely successful first novel, A Violent End, is currently in the last stages of production.

In keeping with tradition, Maggie will officially launch The Brother of Sleep at the South Stormont Chamber of Commerce Home and Trade Show in late April. A Violent End was also launched at the trade show three years ago.

"It may not be the usual venue for a book launch," says Maggie, "but because the community has been so much a part of both novels, it seems fitting."

The Brother of Sleep is also partially set in the Lost Villages and will include most of the original major characters, including Farran MacKenzie. It too will be published by General Store Publishing, Burnstown, Ontario.

30

Media contact:

Maggie Wheeler

613-537-2771

www.maggiewheeler.com

maggie@maggiewheeler.com

.....
Glenda Eden
Old Crone Publishing & Communications
613-537-8711
eden@trondata.net
<http://www.oldcrone.ca/>